ASSESSMENT

The examination will test candidates' ability to demonstrate their understanding of the topics covered by the syllabus both conceptually and also in terms of their ability to communicate this understanding in the English language. The assessment of the candidates being examined in this subject will be by oral examination.

The period of the examination will be up to 2 hours during which time the candidate will be examined by a panel of nominated examiners which shall consist of not less than 2 and not more than 4 members.

Immediately prior to the examination, the candidate will be provided with a copy of an examination paper consisting of 8 questions of which he or she may nominate 4 to be examined upon. An English dictionary and a copy of a law dictionary (Mozley and Whiteley's law dictionary by J. E. Penner) shall also be provided. The candidate shall be permitted 45 minutes to consider questions and to choose the 4 to be examined upon. The candidate shall then be called before a panel of examiners. When called before the panel, the candidate should take the questions supplied upon which he or she is to be examined.

The candidates may consult notes that they have made on the questions supplied but they must not consult any other notes, books or other materials. The questions are the only documents that may be brought into the examination room and at the conclusion of the examination, candidates will be required to leave the questions supplied at the test venue as directed.

The assessment of each candidate shall be undertaken by the panel members by listening to and assessing the candidate's answers to the nominated questions appearing in the examination paper and also to any supplementary questions put by the individual panel members in the course of the examination.

At the end of the examination period, each examiner shall allocate a score based on their assessment of the candidate's performance in dealing with the examination questions and supplementary questions. The average of the scores allocated by panel members shall be the final mark allocated to the candidate concerned.

Each candidate's performance may be recorded on video tape for the purpose of later consideration and assessment if necessary.
