

Terms of Use for Course Enrolment via Mobile Application

By using this mobile application, you acknowledge and agree to the following terms:

1. Purpose of the Application

This mobile application is provided solely as a platform to facilitate enrolment in training courses. It does not serve as a record-keeping system for storing, managing or verifying users' training records.

2. Responsibility for Keeping Training Records

It remains to be the sole responsibility of users to maintain accurate, up-to-date and complete records of their training activities, including but not limited to course enrolments, attendance and completion status.

3. Disclaimer of Liability

The Law Society of Hong Kong and/or the Academy of Law do not guarantee that the users' training records are updated and shall not be held liable for any loss, discrepancies, or omission in users' training records. Users are strongly advised to regularly back up and verify their own training records.

4. Compliance with Training Requirements

It is the users' sole responsibility to ensure that the course(s) they enrol in is(are) appropriate and in compliance with their individual applicable Continuing Professional Development ("CPD") and/or Risk Management Education ("RME") requirements. Users are strongly advised to refer to the CPD and RME Information Packages to ascertain their CPD and/or RME requirements and familiarize themselves with the requirements prior to enrolling in any course.